Loganville, GA -- (SBWire) -- 09/25/2018 --SCI Supply& Rental, a leading supplier of disaster recovery equipment and services, is opening new satellite offices in Texas, Colorado and Oklahoma as part of an effort to better its nationwide reach.

The new satellite offices are Hockley, Conroe, Dickinson, Texas, Ft. Gibson, Oklahoma, and Henderson, Colorado. SCI SUPPLY is based in Loganville, GA.

"We took a look at the places where disasters happen, the supply chain and how long it takes to respond," said company owner Ty Robinson. "We looked for places that are underserved by disaster relief companies. Then, we picked regional or geographic centers. The locations we chose fit our business expansion model and serve a very real need for those areas."

When communities in the West begin flood recovery efforts, they learn getting the needed equipment and trained professionals to do the work is not easy. Mr. Robinson said the Loganville office always expects huge demands for help any time flooding occurs out there.

"When people in Colorado, Texas or Oklahoma are calling Georgia asking for help, you know they are desperate. You know they do not have local resources to use," he said. "That is why we have expanded. The need is there. We are stepping in to fill a need."

SCI Supply specializes in water damage restoration equipment and advice to recover from such a disaster. This includes mold and odor removal, document cleaning and restoration and moisture control.

"We built this business in Georgia around helping people recover from floods, whether natural or accidental. Over the years we have learned what it takes to get a building or a home back to pre-damage conditions," Mr. Robinson said. "At the same time, we learned this kind service is rare. Many people think they know how to recover from water damage, but the reality is few understand it completely."

SCI Supply rents and sells restoration equipment. Company employees can also offer advice on the best ways to use the equipment. The company designs custom desiccant and dehumidifiers as well.

About Ty Robinson

Ty Robinson is a graduate of University of Georgia. Married with 2 girls and enjoys spending time with the family. I have a passion for the outdoors which includes hunting, fishing, and camping. My first job after college was selling cemetery lots. I then went on to sell chemicals and janitorial supplies with Zep Manufacturing. My passion to succeed led me to start SCI Supply and push the company to a new level.
